Discover the Future of Personalized Medicine

Personalized healthcare offers tailored solutions that address the unique needs of each patient. These innovations improve treatment outcomes and make healthcare in Europe more effective and sustainable. Achieving this requires collaboration and support.

This is where PRECISEU comes in—a European initiative aimed at connecting regional innovation ecosystems and accelerating the adoption of personalized medicine. A key component of the initiative is the four Joint Interregional Projects (JIPs), which will launch in 2026 and run for three years. These projects, funded by PRECISEU partners and the EU, bring together leading companies, research institutions, and other stakeholders to work on solutions for Advanced Therapy Medicinal Products (ATMPs) and the integration of health data. The goal is to drive innovation in personalized medicine and digital health.

Participating in the JIPs offers numerous benefits:

- Mentoring to develop competitive project ideas
- Matchmaking to form project consortia
- Europe-wide collaboration with leading experts
- Preparation for the PRECISEU funding call

Currently, the Expression of Interest (EoI) call is open, inviting stakeholders with project ideas and products at Technology Readiness Levels (TRL) 6-8 to participate in the JIPs. The submission deadline is July 31, 2025.

About the Webinar

Learn more about PRECISEU's vision and the EoI process in our webinar! We will introduce the initiative, explain funding opportunities—especially for participants from Baden-Württemberg—and answer your questions.

Target Audience:

- Companies in the health and biotech sectors (from start-ups to large corporations)
- Research institutions, universities, and hospitals
- NGOs, patient organizations, and public institutions
- Anyone interested in health data, ATMPs, or personalized medicine

Participation is free, but registration is required!
